George the knight

George was a knight. He went to the castle to save the princess. The princess was on the top of the castle. 'Help! George!' she shouted.

Next, George met a donkey and it said, 'If you want to get inside the castle, you must go to the pond and fight with the dragon.' 'How can I find the dragon?' George asked. The donkey replied, 'There was a sword on the rock. When you get it, the dragon will come out.'

After that, George was thirsty so he went to the pond and drank some water. Then he went to the rock and got the sword. He stood on the rock and he became much stronger than before. 'I will fight with you! Dragon! And I will win!' he said loudly.

Suddenly, the dragon appeared. George started to fight with the dragon. The princess was worried about him because the dragon was bigger than George. Luckily, George had a magical sword. He flew into the sky with the sword and saved the princess. In the end, George got married with the princess and they lived happily forever.
